Notes

- A lot of you will know David Wilson our lead trainer for IVC. The Eyre Peninsula in South Australia is in David's backyard and rates alongside the Flinders Ranges as his favourite 4WD destinations in the world. A frequent visitor to Eyre Peninsula and in particular Coffin Bay (he's now a local) over the last 30 years has given David an intimate understanding of what makes the place tick, so you're in a safe pair of hands! This'll be a family affair as Rose his wife and Georgia his daughter (and IVC assistant trainer) will be with us lending their expertise too.
- Tag-Along convoys by their nature take time to negotiate the trails so please be patient, suggested times shown here are indicative, but shouldn't be taken as gospel
- As we will be in convoy UHF communications are essential. If you have already installed a set in your vehicle all well and good, if not no problem, we'll supply a set for your use over the weekend.
- The places we are visiting are some of the most spectacular coastal vistas you'll find anywhere in the world and they are in National Parks so we'll treat them with the respect they deserve by adhering to the marked trails and taking out all our rubbish.
- As we'll be driving on a lot of sand over the weekend we'll be letting air out of our tyres and reinflating them at the end of the day. Essential equipment includes an accurate tyre pressure gauge and an air compressor. Please bring both. If you have room a long-handled shovel is useful, so too MaxTrax and if you already have other sand related recovery gear bring it along. If you don't, don't worry as our guide vehicles will be suitably equipped. Remember weight is the enemy and sand driving usually doesn't need too much in the way of gear!
- There'll also be times where the sand peters out and rocky limestone headlands emerge, so the 4WD driving over the weekend will be a mixed bag of terrains and often challenging. That's where we will go the extra yards to help guide you and develop your skills in our usual IVC way!

I-VENTURE CLUB

- If you are going to make the effort to travel to the bottom of the Peninsula why don't you extend your stay? There's lots to see in and around Port Lincoln and heading further west there's Elliston, Streaky Bay, Venus and Smoky Bays and Ceduna including Davenport Creek. The Peninsula is a treasure-trove of 4WD excitement and the fishing is excellent just about anywhere along the coast, so bring a rod with you if you're going to do some investigation of your own.
